Erica is a designer at FXCollaborative working primarily on mixed-use towers. Her work intersects urban design, zoning analysis, building massing, and space programming for complex sites. Additionally, she works with city agencies and community leaders in the public approval processes.

Monique Dorroh

Monique is a Master of Architecture candidate in her final year at Penn State University. Her goal is to become a licensed architect with a focus in urban and cultural design, creating self-sustaining spaces that provide diverse resources for surrounding communities.

Our intent is to actively support women and minority professionals of all experience levels, that have been greatly affected by COVID, and the systemic injustices in the architectural and design communities. We want to ensure that as a collective, we increase the diversity of our profession in NYC and nationally.
