Dear Incoming Architecture Student,

The American Institute of Architecture Students (AIAS), University of Maryland Chapter would like to welcome you to your first semester in the design studio sequence. To simplify your life, AIAS has put together a supply kit that includes the majority of the necessary tools you will need throughout your time in studio. We have attached the list of supplies included in the kit and an order form. In addition, a list of additional items not included in the kit is also provided to further assist you in preparing for studio.

The Kits

We have worked with our faculty members and our supplier, Artist and Craftsman Supply, to curate kits that contain core supplies, including one-time purchase items, as well as items that will be frequently used and replaced. Additional supplies that are needed may be purchased from the local AIAS Supply Store, located in the Great Space in the Architecture building. The kit contains items that will be purchased at a large discount that only AIAS members receive. Another added benefit of ordering your supply kit with the AIAS is that the AIAS annual membership fee is included with purchase. If you would like to order the kit, please print, complete, and return the attached ordering form by Wednesday, September 4, 2019. Any order forms received after this date will not be accepted. Also, please send an email to aiasumd@gmail.com stating that you would like to place an order for a kit by the date specified.

About the AIAS

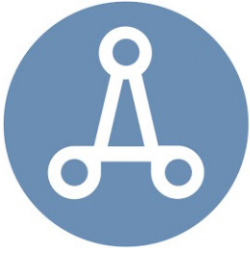

The AIAS is an independent, non-profit organization committed to promoting excellence in architectural education, training, and practice. Members will enjoy reduced rates for travel fees, social events, and discounts on studio supplies at the AIAS School Store. Members will also be given priority when registering for events such as lectures, workshops, and conference trips. AIAS membership also provides discounts on subscriptions to Architectural Record and other publications, software, and much more.
